

Gulden Ophthalmics

November 2, 2007

Gentlemen:

I contracted the services of PolySolutions Advisors LLC late 2006 to help accelerate the revenue growth of my company, Gulden Ophthalmics. Gulden manufactures instruments and software for Optometrists and Ophthalmologists. Jim and Steve served as business advisors who analyzed and recommended business strategy and tactics. At the time Gulden was considering multiple domestic and international business alliances and technology license opportunities.

They also operated in a business /marketing management mode, and recommended multiple strategic alliances and product line extensions to further strengthen Gulden's position in its core markets, as well as new market entry strategies into related markets.

As a result of their efforts Gulden Ophthalmics added new products and established relations with additional foreign suppliers now working towards the creation of several new product lines.

Our relationship throughout the last year has been very professional, supportive and productive and continues as of this writing. They both have great business sense and are very intuitive.
